

FORMAL OPENING OF NEW RICHMOND COLLEGE

Every Dormitory in Westhampton Group Reported Crowded With Students.

ELLYSON MAKES ADDRESS
Pays High Tribute to President Boatwright and Work of Virginia Baptist Education Commission. Immense Sums Expended.

Exercises marking the formal opening of Greater Richmond College, were conducted yesterday morning in the new college auditorium at Westhampton, with members of the faculty, the entire student body and several hundred friends of the institution in attendance. Short speeches by prominent State and city officials and the address of Lieutenant-Governor J. Taylor Ellyson were features of the opening. In his speech President F. W. Boatwright said the college was never in a more prosperous condition and that every dormitory on the college campus is filled with students. In addition to the students who have been unable to secure rooms in the college buildings are quartered on the campus.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. R. H. Pitt, D. D., and with singing by the College Glee Club. The assembled students were heartily welcomed to the city of Richmond by Mayor George Ansley, while R. C. Stearnes, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, extended to them a cordial welcome in behalf of the Commonwealth. Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, Superintendent of Richmond City Schools, made an interesting address to the students.

GOVERNOR ELLYSON
REVIEWED PROGRESS OF WORK

Reviewing the history and marvelous progress of the College since its organization, Lieutenant-Governor Ellyson, chairman of the board of trustees, said, in part:

"This is a great day in the history of Richmond College, and I am here to share its pleasures with you. It is the completion of a great undertaking, the realization of a long-cherished hope for the better education of a Greater Richmond College. Higher education in Virginia has been fortunate in having among the Baptist of the Commonwealth men of broad vision, men with brave hearts and courageous purposes, who have laid deep foundations for better training of the young men and young women of this State. It may seem that a small beginning in higher education was made when the Virginia Baptist Education Society was organized in the early morning of May 30, 1830, but it will not so appear when we consider the marvelous development that has followed."

The Lieutenant-Governor then traced the growth of the college, dwelling upon the period through which the institution has passed during the past few years.

He paid glowing tribute to the men whose names are linked with the college, and who, by their efforts and sacrifices, have made possible the Greater Richmond College of today.

PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO PRESIDENT BOATWRIGHT

In conclusion the speaker said: "No commendation ever addressed themselves more earnestly to their duties and certainly the members of no committee ever worked together more harmoniously than did the members of the committee on new buildings. The college has been fortunate in having connected the college property with Chesapeake and Ohio main line to facilitate the delivery of materials and to hasten the completion of the buildings. We put down water pipes for a distance of the miles, and we insure an abundant supply of pure water, and we are now enjoying the supplies of the beautiful building, the improvement of the grounds, all at a total cost of $1,000,000. "Where all did such splendid work, it seems invidious to make particular mention. I am sure, however, that the members of the committee will readily agree that both in the matter of raising an endowment and the intelligent and active interest in all the details of the work of the committee on new buildings there was no one who rendered such important service as President Boatwright. I can not too cordially commend his unwavering loyalty and devotion throughout all the years in which we were seeking to secure the money and build the beautiful buildings which we now occupy."

EDUCATION COMMISSION

The appointment of the Virginia Baptist Education Commission, which Dr. R. H. Pitt was the able chairman, marked the beginning of a new era in the educational life of Virginia. The commission had for its aim the unification of all the educational institutions under Baptist control for mutual protection and help of the people.

The work of the commission has been worthy of all the praise given it. It is to that agency that we owe the inauguration of the movement for the better education of the people. It was fortunate for us that Richmond was chosen as the home of the college, and incorporated and made a part of our work. You could have no better appreciation of this opportunity for usefulness than is to be found in the fact that we have erected a building for the Greater Richmond College at Westhampton, with nearly $250,000, which is more than the cost of all the buildings ever erected on the old campus.

The wisdom of our change of location is already demonstrated. The beginning of the work of the first session at Westhampton brings with it the assurance of wide usefulness for the new institution and we now have how much we needed the new buildings and grounds for the proper conduct of our work. The splendid community of our young men and young women, the efficient corps of instructors to guide them, give a large place in the educational life of the young men and young women of Virginia and the South."

Rev. W. M. Pletcher, the first student to receive the degree of master of arts from Richmond College, offered the closing prayer.

Supervisors Meet.
The Board of Supervisors of Henrico County met yesterday at the County Courthouse. Only business matters of a routine nature were considered in the meeting.

John Lewis Acquitted.
John Lewis, colored, was acquitted yesterday after a trial in the Henrico County Circuit Court on the charge of breaking into the store of H. Kelly, a resident of the county.

Harry Phelps was found guilty on a charge of breaking into the barn of W. L. Brittle and stealing several articles. He was ordered to pay a fine of $5 and serve a term of fifteen days in the county jail.

Judge R. Carter Scott ordered a continuance in the case of Benjamin Johnson, colored, arraigned on a charge of refusing to support his wife and family. Judge Scott advised the negro to return to his family and provide for it.

Capitol Closed To-Day.
By order of the Governor, Colonel John R. Johnston will keep the Capitol Building closed all day today. Officials and employees of the different departments are thus given an opportunity to patronize the State Fair. The State Library Building will remain open for the convenience of the public, and the State Fair will be held as usual. Hundreds of sightseers have visited the library and museum since the opening of fair week.

TABLET OF POCAHONTAS AT JAMESTOWN ISLAND

Plans for the unveiling of the Pocahontas tablet, which has been placed on the wall of the Memorial Church, at Jamestown Island, by the side of the tablet, were discussed yesterday morning at a meeting of the board of managers of the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities, which was held in the John Marshall House. The ceremony will take place on October 24, and is expected that all members of the association, accompanied by many friends, will be present. Dr. Lyon G. He aspires to become a professional detective.

Obviously he is under the impression that the crop of deep-deyed villains in Virginia is unusual. He has written to Governor Stuart, tendering his services to the Commonwealth as a detective, and frankly acknowledging that he has had no previous experience in the detective business.

In a kindly reply to the amateur Sherlock, Governor Stuart has advised the boy that the Commonwealth has no immediate use for the services of either private or public detectives, concluding with: "My personal advice to you is to stay out of the detective business if you would live long and be happy."

LECKY OUT OF RACE FOR SEAT IN LOWER HOUSE

Can't Hold Membership on Fire Board and in General Assembly at Same Time.

OPINION BY CITY ATTORNEY
Candidate Notifies Chairman of City Democratic Committee of His Withdrawal From Contest for Office Held by Late D. L. Toney.

Advised by City Attorney Pollard that the city charter would prevent him from holding membership on the Fire Board and in the Legislature at the same time, Robert Lecky, Jr., yesterday wrote to Chairman Price, of the City Democratic Committee, asking that he be considered out of the race for the seat in the House of Delegates made vacant by the death of D. L. Toney.

Mr. Lecky, who is vice-president of the Board of Fire Commissioners, had decided to become a candidate, if election to the House could not have compelled his resignation from the Fire Board, on which he has served twelve years. The selection of committee members, as set down in the charter, provide that the position of a member of the board who is nominated for any other office elected by the people shall be considered ipso facto vacated, unless such member within ten days of his nomination expressly states that he is not a candidate.

It was believed that these restrictions were not enforceable in view of sections 44 and 117 of the Constitution, which, taken together, appear to provide much broader protection for elections. Mr. Lecky applied to City Attorney Pollard for an opinion and was informed that the restrictions of the city charter conflicted in no way with the Constitution, and that the position of a member of the House and retaining the same seat on the Fire Board at the same time would be considered ipso facto vacated.

The City Democratic Committee has been called to meet on Friday night to nominate Mr. Toney's successor. It is the hope of the organizers of the club that at least 2,000 bales will be sold in Richmond. The price to be paid is 10 cents a pound, or about $50 a bale, the average weight of each being 500 pounds. The cotton will be stored and negotiable cotton warehouse receipts will be delivered to the buyers.

Richmond now is well to the fore in the buy-a-bale movement, and the average weight of each bale is 500 pounds. The cotton will be stored and negotiable cotton warehouse receipts will be delivered to the buyers.

Among the possibilities for nomination to the vacancy is the name of Kelly Gilbert K. Pollock, E. R. Fuller and Joseph H. Taylor. It was reported yesterday that Mr. Taylor, who is a part of many business men, who will urge their representatives in the City Democratic Committee to nominate him. Mr. Taylor himself has made no announcement of his candidacy.

P. C. CHRISTIAN HEADS SOLICITING COMMITTEE

Will Announce To-Day Names of Members to Help Buy-a-Bale Movement.

FAVORABLE REPORTS RECEIVED
One Concern Doubles Previous Subscription, While Fredericksburg Bank President Adds Name to List of Buyers.

At a meeting of business men with the buying committee of the Richmond Cotton-Buying Club, held yesterday afternoon at the office of the Virginia Trust Company, P. C. Christian was elected chairman of the soliciting committee. The selection of committee members was left in his hands, and it is expected, he will announce the names of his selections to-day, and the buy-a-bale-of-cotton movement will be on in earnest in Richmond. The number of bales to be sold, it is expected, will be between twenty-five and fifty.

Headquarters of the club will be maintained at the Bank of Commerce and Trust where J. T. W. Curtis, secretary, will be in charge, and where all subscriptions will be received. All persons anxious to participate in the scheme to relieve the Southern farmer at this critical time are asked to send their subscription to headquarters.

Along what lines the soliciting committee will work has not been fully announced. However, it is expected that before the campaign's end practically every person in the city in a position to do so will be called upon to aid.

ONE CONCERN DOUBLES
ITS PREVIOUS SUBSCRIPTION

Reports indicating the success of the movement are constantly coming in. The Cottrell Saddlery Company yesterday announced that it would double its previous subscription. M. B. Rowe, president of the Planters' National Bank of Fredericksburg, has written the Richmond club directing that his name be entered to buy a bale.

It is the hope of the organizers of the club that at least 2,000 bales will be sold in Richmond.
